This Certificate Witnesseth,

that on the 1st day of the week, the 2nd day of the month Tammuz in the year 5679, A. M., corresponding to the 29th of June 1919 the holy Covenant of Marriage was entered into at Buffalo, N. Y.
between the Bridegroom Jacob H. Gilden and his Bride Anna Sernoffsky

The said Bridegroom made the following declaration to his Bride:

"Be thou my wife according to the law of Moses and of Israel. I faithfully promise that I will be a true husband unto thee. I will honor and cherish thee; I will work for thee; I will protect and support thee, and will provide all that is necessary for thy due sustenance, even as it beseemeth a Jewish husband to do. I also take upon myself all such further obligations for thy maintenance, during thy life-time, as are prescribed by our religious statute."

And the said Bride has plighted her troth unto him, in affection and in sincerity, and has thus taken upon herself the fulfillment of all the duties incumbent upon a Jewish wife.

This Covenant of Marriage was duly executed and witnessed this day, according to the usage of Israel.

Will bless you both all through lifes way
And may the God of love create
A home of perfect peace, we pray

Anna Goldsmith

My wish to you is simple,
But my heart is in every line;
May you have God's choicest blessings,
Direct from His Kingdom Divine;
May your lives, dear Jay and
Anna,
Be bright as the sunlight

May your paths be showered

The Bells

Hear the mellow wedding bells—
Golden bells!
What a world of happiness their harmony foretells!
Through the balmy air of night
How they ring out their delight!
From the molten-golden notes,
And all in tune,
What a liquid ditty floats
To the turtle-dove that listens while she gloats
On the moon!
Oh, from out the sounding cells,
What a gush of euphony voluminously wells!
How it swells!
How it dwells
On the future! how it tells
Of the rapture that impels
To the swinging and the ringing
Of the bells, bells, bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells—
To the rhyming and the chiming of the bells!
Poe.

The Wedding Hymn

hou God whose high eternal Love
Is the only blue sky of our life,
Clear all the Heaven that bends above
The life-road of this man and wife.

ay these two lives be but one note
In the world's strange-sounding harmony,
Whose sacred music e'er shall float
Through every discord up to thee.

s when from separate stars two beams
Unite to form one tender ray;
As when two sweet but shadowy dreams
Explain each other in the day:
So may these two dear hearts, one light
Unite, and each interpret each.
Let an angel come and dwell to-day
In this dear double heart, and teach.

Sidney Lanier

Honest company, I thank you all,
That have beheld me give away myself
To this most patient, sweet and virtuous wife."

If I leave all for thee, wilt thou exchange
And be all to me? Shall I never miss Thine talk and blessing and the common kiss? „

The Bridal Prayer

They stand alone, the newly wed,
With chastened voice and reverent head!
One flesh the twain, and one prayer
Ascending from the altar there.

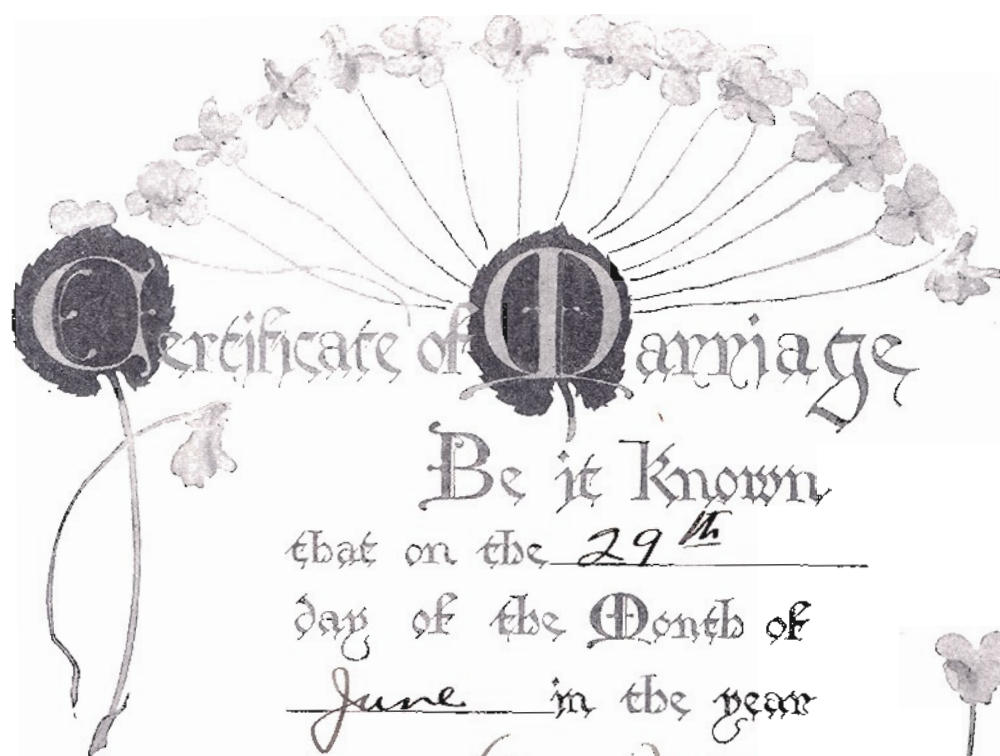

Tender and broken is each word
Upon the sacred stillness heard;
Winged with one faith to reach the throne
And bring a father's blessing down.

Oh! sweetest hour for human pair,
When love is sanctified by prayer,
And when, in answer from the skies,
God sends again earth's Paradise.

Rankin

And in the compass of three little words,
More musical than ever came in one
The silver fragments of a broken voice,
Made me most happy, faltering, "I am thine"

The Wedding Day

O Love, it is our wedding day ;
And not a thrush in woodland bowers,
And not a rivulet's silvery lay ,
Nor tiny bee-song 'mid the flowers,
Nor any voice on land or sea
But deepens love to ecstasy !

Our Wedding Day! The soul's noontide!
In these rare words at watchful rest,
What sweet melodious meanings hide !
Like birds within one balmy nest ,
Each quivering with an impulse strong ,
Gild all heaven and earth with song !

Mystery

Finally Cleared

Through the untiring efforts of Mr. Daniel Cupid the great detective, what promised to be an always unsolved mystery has been unveiled and is found to be one of Buffalo's greatest romances. The cause of uneasiness in the office, the misspelling of words in letters and misquoting thru the phone were merely signs and symptoms of the malady love's course. The fever ran for several months aided by nurse Jealousy and kind and loving friends. Detective Cupid finally succeeded in finishing matters with the aid of a marriage license and a good and faithful helper, Rabbi N. H. Ebin.

Frisky Colt and Mare Tamed

Rabbi Ebin is a good business man plus the fact he's a good sky-pilot, but why does he curb young animals especially having it in for attractive and eligible young men? In this tie-up of Anna and Jay, our sympathies are with Jay, so we sent him a copy of "How to be happy tho' married," and wish him luck.

SCANDAL

Narrowly Avoided

Much gossip was occasioned a short time ago when doctors and lawyers were hastily called to examine the head of William Laufer, who shocked his friends and relatives by closing his place of business three evenings a week. Reports show the cause of alarm was unnecessary. He simply got tired making so much money.

UNEARTHED Treasure Found

A Professor of High Finance has unearthed a real treasure in the form of a wonderful delicatessen store here you can "STOP AND SHOP." Since the ownership has reverted to the famous artist c William Street, Mr. Bernard Sernoffsky, we have hopes of having a really worth while and first class place. We have the guarantee of Rabbi Franklin that all has bacon and pig knuckles sold will be strictly Kosher. Patronize the shop.

This dainty sheet is issued every now and then when occasion presents itself to make a serious dose of medicine more palatable for the patients involved and to aid in bringing love-sick over to happy convalescence and future. We expect to be kept at this thing continuously for we have rumors of several affairs soon to come to pass. We have a surplus of josh and bu kept in reserve so lead us to the couples.

Anybody taking offense at anything in this newspaper ought to have more sense but they are privileged to stop their subscription at once. No money refunded.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL COLUMN

Miss Rosabel Block, efficient stenographer, formerly connected with Bleyler & Fisher, has accepted a responsible position with the Citizens Commercial Trust Co. We know our money is safe now.

Dr. Dan Kaiser has just patented a new alarm clock which gives 25 hours sleep per day.

Miss Evelyn Sernoffsky announces she is desirous of a position as a lady's nurse maid where shoes are furnished.

Mrs. Sara Rivo, famous cook, has consented to serve one of her famous meals to the gang in the near future. We are having daily Yom Kippers in eager expectation of the feast.

Mr. Adolph Krauth, famous singer of folk songs, has arrived in time for the Gilden-Sernoffsky wedding.

Mr. Morris Gilden has recently discovered a new bug in the urological laboratory which we understand will net him enormous amount of money. May we borrow a few cents on account, Dr. Gilden?

Between concert numbers let Rose Sernoffsky slice your Kosher Hams and Bacon.

Clara Gilden and everybody else anxiously await the arrival of our HERO Nat Gilden.

Thrice Welcome Home, Nate. Come right along for our hearty reception.

LAURA MEAN FIBBY COLUMN

Dear Laura—I love your letters in the paper, so as a real friend I am coming to you for advice. I have three boys ranging in age from 2 to 6 years. I am afraid they won't get good wives. Please tell me what I should do. Your constant reader, Sig Chalmer.

Mr. Chalmer: Marry your sons now to women of your own choice.

Dear Miss Fibby—I am always hungry. Do you think this is a good sign? Respectively, William Sernoffsky.

W. Sernoffsky: It's either a compliment to your mother's cooking or a sure sign of tape worm.

Dear Laura Mean—How can I marry my daughter off and still have her and yet be sure the man isn't marrying her for her money? A complete answer will please me a lot. Your friend, Rose Laufer.

Mrs. R. Laufer: Look for a Pink Tea Man or a Lap Dog. Either will answer your purposes perfectly.

Dear Miss Fibby—I have two musical sons. Can they make a good living? Yours,
Mrs. Steinhart.

Mrs. Steinhart: If they are Jewish boys they most certainly can. You need not worry.

Mr. & Mrs. Jay Gilden Choose the Right Kind of Father

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gilden, who have caused all the "schmuses" tonight, are as wise as they make 'em. Jay with an eye for business took a dad-in-law in the real estate business, but Anna, with an eye for the future and "echte Yiddishe Scheichel," took a dad-in-law who is a Mohel. And when Anna makes a choice it is usually the best that can be had and anyone who knows anything at all knows that Mr. Mendel Gilden is without equal in his line of work in the city of Buffalo.

News From Afar

From East Aurora comes the rumor which is so persistent that it must be recognized that the engagement of Edith Gordon to a well-known Buffalonian is soon to be announced.

We hear that Mlle. Belle Sernoffsky, the famous pianist, has been offered a position as teacher of geometry. Take our advice and stick to music by all means.

Let Louise Gilden teach you the way to have a real wedding.

Special Events

It is rumored that the famous Charley Chaplin has been fired and will not appear in the movies again. He is not in it with our local Beulah, who got his job and double his salary.

Jennie Kaiser, famous as a bicycle rider in the good old days, has finally consented in honor of the occasion to give an exhibition ride. The ride will not, however, be in the form of a skate (ice or otherwise) because the thirst of July is too near to run such risk.

If it isn't too "finster auf'n taich" her consort Jake will do the skating for her.

Eva Pleskow, the well known shorthand specialist, has announced her intention of becoming an expert housekeeper for one Chas. Gilden.

Buffalo Wa Serving Ex-

By WES JOHNS

HAPPY MEMORY—The man who as a waiter served President William McKinley 24 hours before the president was shot in Buffalo is still alive, and in fact, still serving people.

Today, life is mostly memories for 82-year-old Harry Winer, of 12 Spruce St. And one of his happiest recollections is of the warm summer afternoon of Sept. 5, 1901 when he waited on President McKinley at a dinner in the New York State Bldg., then one of the structures on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, but now the Buffalo Historical Bldg.

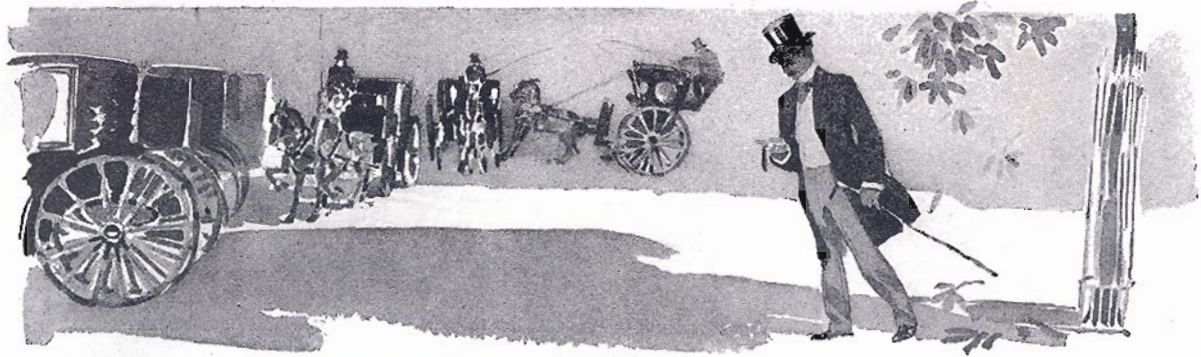

Music when Czolgoz, his hand wrapped in a handkerchief, poured drinks. Handkerchiefs, buy downtown today would go down the hatch at 15 cents, or two for a quarter.

NO RUSH MEALS—"In those days," says Winer, "a meal was really a meal. They didn't slap you on the back and rush you out the door to the tune of juke boxes. Life was leisurely—people often took two hours for the meal."

His lucky month is September. He was born in that month, came here from Russia in that month, was married in September 1894, and served McKinley in the same month.

His wife is a lively, white-haired woman. They've been happy these many years—63 in all.

talk about space-ships. The three services all issued such orders Oct. 9, but actually, the Air Force teletyped all its commands a confidential order in July 29, 1957, that even prohibited "the mention or discussion of space, space technology, or space vehicles." REASON for this amazing or relief was the attitude of then Sec- son, who considered space search a waste of money. He once snorted at a press conference that the Air Force has no business flying to the moon. As

STRONTIA

Crystal Cave

The Cavern of Wonderful Daze

Perhaps nothing at Put-in-Bay creates so much excitement, wonderment and talk on that wonderful island and surrounding country as has the recent discovery of the wonderful cave of

"Crystalline Strontia"

For years it has been known that strontia in small quantities was to be found near Put-in-Bay Island, but the mineral was never supposed to abound in paying quantities.

In November, 1897, on the property of Gustav Heinemann, a well was sunken some 40 feet deep, for water for drinking purposes. Workmen in making the excavation passed closely to a wonderful cave, the earth tumbling in and disclosing to them a stalactical cavern, more like a "fairy grotto" than anything else—a more appropriate name could not be applied. On exploration it was found that there were several rooms, some large and some small, and an immense strata of strontia, a solid mass of dazzling mineral extending 22 feet below the bottom of the cave. The side walls of the different rooms are of solid strontia and the ceilings are arch shape and hung with prismatically formed crystals emitting prismatic colors fascinatingly splendid with brilliancy and radiance, not unlike that of the clearest cut diamond.

Since the discovery, work has been going on in preparation for the admission to the cave of the many thousands of excursionists and tourists who frequent the island annually.

On entering, one is impressed with the idea that they are about to pass through the state of congelation, the surroundings have so niveous appearance, but when once inside the work of the conjurer is apparent, the magic of the transformation from the outside awakens one, and they at once become envious of the "water nymphs" who must at some time have possessed this dazzling formation for their jewel casket. No earth nor soil is visible. Those versed in docimastic art as well as others that have visited the cave pronounce it the handsomest sight they ever saw.

The salts of strontia communicate a vivid crimson color to flame, and are much used—especially the nitrate of strontia—in the manufacture of fireworks. It is also used in clarifying beet sugar. The weight is much heavier than lead, but two ordinary barrels being required to hold a ton, and this discovery is said to be the first of any importance in the United States.

Honeymooners seem to be especially attracted to this point, evidenced by the fact that Anna (my dearest wife) spied a number of young couples with "She" wearing a band on the 3rd finger of the left hand - sufficient evidence for conviction. -

New Era Seen For Cruises

Revival Possible For Passenger Ships On Lakes

By HOMER BRICKEY

Blade Staff Writer

NEWS THAT the Georgian Bay Line will resume Great Lake cruises next year raises speculation as to whether the move might be the beginning of another era of passenger travel on the lakes.

Arison Shipping Co. of Miami bought the Georgian Bay Line in early March, this year, and a few weeks later announced that a luxury liner, the Sunward, which has been making a Miami to Nassau run, will be put in service on the lakes from May through October next year.

The 457-foot ship was built in Norway and commissioned in 1966. It can carry 558 passengers in 206 staterooms, each with a private bath. Other features of the Sunward are two nightclubs, a movie theater, cocktail lounge, dance floor, two dining rooms, a swimming pool, and several bars.

Georgian Bay Lines' last Great Lakes cruise ship, the South American, was sold to the Seafarers International Union in 1967.

ALTHOUGH THE Sunward probably will not call at Toledo, its appearance on the lakes may signal a return to a leisure-time activity that was at its height 40 or 50 years ago.

Cruising and excursion services, once booming businesses, as evidenced by the many passenger ships that plied the lakes, never quite recovered from the depression. The proliferation of automobiles, a more rapidly paced way of life, and higher operating costs contributed to the demise of passenger ships.

However, there are some indications that the buying public may be ready to turn the clock back. It may be that a trip by airplane, for all its speed, can't match a leisurely cruise on the water. And no other form of transportation can offer a romantic, moonlit view from the deck.

Just when nearly everyone was believing that speedy transatlantic jets had killed off ocean liners, the Cunard Line put the Queen Elizabeth 2 in service, not only as a means of transportation but also as a cruise ship.

A spokesman for the Toledo-Lucas County Port Authority said many requests for information on lake cruises are received. And about 5,000 area residents toured the Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw during a three-hour open house last September.

PERHAPS SOME of the local interest in cruises and excursions is nostalgic. Although passenger ships waned during and after the 1930s, some called at Toledo as recently as a decade ago, and many persons have fond memories of trips to Cedar Point, Put-In-Bay, Sugar Island, Cleveland, Niagara Falls, St. Clair Flats, Detroit, Bob-Lo Island, or Windsor, or moonlight cruises in Maumee Bay.

Randolph C. Downes, a University of Toledo professor, wrote in a book, "Industrial Beginnings" (vol. IV of the Lucas County Historical Series), that as early as 1877, one ship line was offering cruises to Buffalo for $3 round-trip and to Cleveland for $2 round-trip, and by 1879 the Pearl was making a regular Toledo-Detroit run for 50 cents round-trip.

Many passenger ships operated in Toledo, but some of the more famous ones were the Greyhound, the Put-In-Bay, the City of Toledo, the Pastime, the State of Ohio, and the State of New York.

DESPITE the popularity of the steamships in their heyday, when it came time for them to die, they all ended ignominiously.

The first Greyhound, once called the fastest ship on the lakes, was built in 1867 for use on Lake Michigan. In 1886, it began a Detroit-Toledo run. It was dismantled around 1900, and the hull was used as a sand scow from 1902 until it sank in the Detroit River in 1905.

A new Greyhound was built in 1902 and put on a Toledo-Put-in-Bay run. From 1917 to 1930, the second Greyhound ran between Toledo and Detroit. It was dismantled in 1930.

The City of Toledo was built in 1891 at the old Craig Shipyards and used between Toledo and Put-in-Bay, later between Toledo and Detroit. It served out the rest of its years as a ferry in New York before being scrapped in Hamilton, Ont., in 1948.

The Pastime operated as a river steamboat between Perysburg and Toledo in the 1890s. Later, it operated between Toledo and Presque Isle and was used for lake cruises. It became a garbage scow.

The State of Ohio ran between Toledo and Cleveland from 1899 to 1908 and between Toledo and Put-in-Bay from 1919 to 1923. It was destroyed in a fire in Cleveland in 1924.

The State of New York was put on a Toledo-Put-in-Bay run from 1911 to 1917, and later ran between Detroit and Port Huron before being converted to a barge in 1936.

Also in 1911, the Put-in-Bay began trips from Toledo to western Lake Erie islands, Cedar Point, and Detroit. It also made moonlight trips into Maumee Bay. In 1953, it was sold for scrap.

IRONICALLY, ONE ship that did not end up as a scow or as scrap was involved in a near disaster that ended regular passenger service at Toledo, after it had been revived a couple of years earlier. On the evening of July 30, 1958, the 210-foot excursion steamer Canadiana, with 885 passengers returning from an outing at Bob-Lo Island, was struck by the swinging span of a railroad bridge on the Maumee River.

Last year, a Cleveland restaurateur bought the Canadiana with the intention of turning it into a floating night club.

NEWS ---- NEWS ---- NEWS

25 years ago today Woodrow Wilson was president of the U.S.A. People everywhere were singing "Over there". "Daddy Longlegs" starring Mary Pickford was the movie sensation of the year and the novel of the year was "All's quiet on the western front".

Postage stamps were reduced from 3¢ to 2¢ for first class mail. Jack Dempsey knocked out Willard. Sousa and his band were the leading attraction at the Elmwood Music Hall.

Women's dresses were tighter and longer and the cars of importance were Pierce-Arrow, Paige, Willy's Overland.

The world's largest battle-ship - the super dreadnaught "Tennessee" was launched at the New York Navy yard.

The first direct flight across the Atlantic Ocean from Newfoundland to Ireland 1930 miles was made in 16 hrs. and 12 min. with a Vickers biplane by Lt. Brown and Capt. Alcock, and the Peace Treaty was signed June 28th with Germany the first to sign.

All in all it was a swell year for it was the time that Anna Sernoffsky and Jacob Gilden were married. How time flies''''
